Georgia is an incredibly focused individual who is able to adapt in high-pressure situations, working collaboratively and using her initiative to solve creative problems. Georgia has an excellent knowledge of working in the technical theatre arts and can confidently carry out a number of backstage roles alongside younger learners, her peers and industry professionals.

Recently, I have had the pleasure of working with Georgia at the Old Rep Theatre, Birmingham, wherein she took on the role of Deputy Stage Manager and oversaw the smooth running of a complex showcase performance, involving 180 performers. The rehearsal window was incredibly narrow and involved trucked drum risers, multi-media projection, the use of radio mics and flying gauze. Georgia coped with all of these elements in an outstanding manner and was an invaluable member of the production team.

I have no doubt that Georgia has all the attributes and knowledge to be incredibly successful in the professional industry, however it is clear that she also possesses the inter-personal and professional skills to succeed in whichever field she chooses.
