

HOLLY-MAY JAMESON

ABOUT ME

Hi! My name's Holly and if there's anything to know about me it's that I'm often found singing on set and this stems from my background in Musical Theatre. My passions lie within the performing arts and have done my entire life, my goal is to take part in something that will have a meaningful impact on people.

One of my proudest achievements was winning an Arts Council Award for my performance as Annie at my theatre when I was 10, I use the memory of my resilience and determination as my motivation to strive for every opportunity I find.

I am always eager to connect with individuals who share my same passions as well as collaborate to create exciting new projects together, I understand the dedication and tenacity required through my own experiences of creating and acting in projects and I will always do my best to bring positivity to the people around me.
