As a highly skilled producer, director, and editor, I have a strong track record of delivering high-quality video content on time and within budget. I thrive on solving problems and collaborating with teams, with a passion for storytelling that brings complex projects to life.

With experience in managing budgets, coordinating shoots, and leading post-production, I love being at the center of a project, from conception to final cut. Whether it's hiring freelance teams or overseeing the creative process, I enjoy transforming ideas into engaging visuals.

Now, with Ryan's Film School, I offer workshops and after school clubs for schools, colleges, and universities, helping students explore film, TV, and video production while developing crucial life skills like communication, budgeting and time management.
